

Before you start ...

Have your iPad,
(paper) and a pen
ready.

Tick  the checkboxes when you've completed a task.

I am ready.

Go step by step!

Don't jump a page!

I understand.

1. Watch this video on YouTube twice and write down a few quick notes.

- What is the video about?
- What can you see in the video? (people, city, behavior, ...)

Watched the clip.

Took some notes.

Since toilet paper is hopefully not the only thing you have written down, let's share your ideas.

Got more than one word. If not, I'll watch the clip once more.

2. ...call someone from your class using “Face Time“. Speak English only!

5 min

- Compare your notes.
- Share your own experiences about life in quarantine.

Called a friend.

Shared our ideas.

English only.

Language support:

- He was talking about ...
- In my opinion ...
- If you live in dangerous areas you must...
- So far I have had ...
- I would have never thought that ...
- I'm afraid of ... (verb + ing)
- Hopefully we will be able to ...

As a teacher from the US recently said:

This thing we are all a part of, it's living history. Our children are all a part of this, and it will be talked about for generations to come. Schools are closed; sports are cancelled; people are quarantined... on a GLOBAL level. The best thing your children can do is to keep a journal over the next 5+ weeks. Handwritten, typed, in photographs or drawings... record events, day to day activities, fears and feelings. Let them make a video journal if that's the media they prefer. As parents, let them interview you, be a part of it. When it's all over, save it and store in a safe place for them. They will share this with their children and grandchildren. Help them create a tangible, primary source of their own history.

Read the tweet.

Got the idea of it.

3. Create your own video, audio or written diary.

7 days

- make a 30-second video every day - OR
- record a 30-second-audio file every day - OR
- write a 50-word-entry every day - OR
- mix'n'match

Choose one of the topics for each day. Use different ones to make it more interesting! If you want to, you can upload your masterpiece in iTunesU or share when we meet again at school.

- activities at home
- fears and feelings
- home schooling
- keeping in touch with friends and family
- other topics

Got that. Will work hard.
